

#EdIntColl

#EdIntColl Event & Mentoring Opportunity

ICSEI, the ARC Education Project, International Education News and AERA Ed Change SIG have collaborated to support early career members. Recognizing the challenge of networking at virtual conferences and the interest in publishing educational research internationally, we encourage all ICSEI and/or AERA Ed Change members to join us for one or both of these 2 upcoming events:

On May 27th at 11 am EST (5 pm CEST) International Education News is hosting a 90-minute virtual session on "Challenges and opportunities for publishing internationally." Editor, Thomas Hatch will be joined by guest presenters Michelle Knight-Manuel, Amanda Earl, and Yi-Hwa Liou. Corrie Stone Johnson will share her reflections on the conversation.

Michelle Knight Manuel, Professor of Education, Teachers College Columbia University; Executive Editor, Teachers College Record

Amanda Earl, graduate student, International and Transcultural Studies, Editorial Assistant, Teachers College Record

Yi-Hwa Liou, Associate Professor of Education at National Taipei University of Education
Corrie Stone-Johnson, Associate Professor, The State University of New York at Buffalo, Editor-in-Chief, Journal of Educational Change

During the month of June, the ARC Education Project is hosting individual mentoring sessions (online, 30-45 minutes) for early career members from ICSEI and/or AERA Ed Change SIG. We are looking for mentors and mentees to participate! Please register below and ARC Director Trista Hollweck will be in touch with more details. Pairings will be made on a first-come, first-served basis.

REGISTER

for the publishing session and/or as a mentor or mentee

Use this QR code to post your questions before the publishing session

